Nadine Gordimer
De-Linking, Interrupting, Severing

- Fiona McCann and Kerry-Jane Wallart
  Nadine Gordimer: De-Linking, Interrupting, Severing. Introduction................................................................. 5
- Stephen Clingman
  Gordimer, Interrupted.................................................................................................................................................. 11
- Pascale Tolland
  “[S]he Has a Knife in [Her] Hand”: Writing/Cutting in Nadine Gordimer’s Short Stories........................................ 25
- Liliane Louvel
  Nadine Gordimer’s Strangely Uncanny Realistic Stories: The Chaos and the Mystery of It All................................. 39
- Michelle Goins-Reed
  Conflicting Spaces: Gender, Race, and Communal Spheres in Nadine Gordimer’s Fiction...................................... 51
- Kerry-Jane Wallart
  Failing to Place Confrontation: The Car as “Void” in Jump.................................................................................... 61
- Audrey J. Golden
  Nadine Gordimer and the Force of Law: Revisiting My Son’s Story.......................................................................... 75
- Vivek Santayana
  By “the Flash of Fireflies”: Multi-Focal Forms of Critique in Nadine Gordimer’s Late Short Story Cycles.................. 91
- Peter Blair
  Experience’s Potential and Potential Experiences: Subjectivity, Alterity, and Futurity in the Late-Apartheid Novels of Nadine Gordimer................................................................. 103

Reviews

- Reviewed by Stefan Helgesson
  The Routledge Companion to World Literature and World History. Edited by May Havas.................................................. 117
- Reviewed by Riaan Oppelt
  Relations and Networks in South African Indian Writing. Edited by Felicity Hand and Esther Pujolràs-Noguer................................................................. 119
- Reviewed by Jean-François Vernay
  The Fiction of Tim Winton: Earthed and Sacred. By Lyn McCredden................................................................. 121
- Reviewed by Mathilde Rogez
  “Nadine Gordimer, Jump and Other Stories : Parcours Critiques.” Edited by Christian Gutleben and Vanessa Guignery................................................................. 123

Contributors..................................................................................................................................................................... 125